

Dear Hiring Manager,

Good day. I would like to apply for the Frontend Developer position. I am currently a 3rd-year college student and I have been building websites for about a year and a half while studying.

During that time, I worked on several school and personal projects where I focused mainly on frontend development. I have experience building responsive websites using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. I also work with frameworks and tools like React and Tailwind CSS to create clean and modern user interfaces.

I enjoy turning ideas or designs into working websites and making sure they are responsive and easy for users to navigate. I also like improving my projects by learning new techniques and best practices in frontend development.

Even though I am still a student, I am hardworking, willing to learn, and open to feedback. I'm looking for an opportunity where I can gain real experience, grow as a frontend developer, and contribute to real projects.

Thank you for taking the time to read my application. I hope I can have the opportunity to work with your team and continue improving my skills.

Sincerely,

Art Laurence Siojo
